

Trading-space handoff

Close–Paint–Cure–Open

For shopfitters, retailers, offices, salons and clinics planning painting, protection, clean-down and documented handover around a closure.

WHO THIS HANDOFF SUITS

Shopfitters and operators of retail, office, salon or clinic spaces that need painting coordinated around access and reopening plans.

THE HANDOFF PROBLEM

It creates a clear painting sequence around a planned closure while keeping product choice, site conditions and reopening decisions visible.

HOW THE HANDOFF WORKS

- 1. Share the page or QR Give the operator this page before the closure window is treated as fixed.
- 2. Customer contacts Pars The customer provides their own scope, access window, operating constraints and intended reopening date.
- 3. Review products and conditions Pars reviews substrates, coating data, temperature, humidity, ventilation, access and other trades.
- 4. Quote the painting sequence The written scope identifies protection, preparation, painting, clean-down and handover requirements.
- 5. Customer confirms reopening Cure conditions and other site responsibilities are reviewed before the customer decides when to reopen.

WITHIN THE QUOTED PAINTING SCOPE

- Protection, preparation and painting only for the surfaces stated in the quote.
- A planned clean-down and documented handover of the quoted painting areas.
- Scheduling based on the reviewed access window, coating system and site conditions.

OUTSIDE THE PAINTING SCOPE

- Shopfitting, electrical, mechanical, fire-safety or access-compliance work.
- Moving or storing stock, equipment or customer records unless expressly quoted.
- Permits, building security, business operations or coordination of unrelated trades.
- A guaranteed cure time or immediate reopening before product and site conditions are reviewed.

IMPORTANT LIMITS

Pars does not guarantee cure time or immediate reopening without reviewing the selected product, substrate, temperature, humidity, ventilation and site conditions. The customer remains responsible for the reopening decision.

CUSTOMER-CONTROLLED NEXT STEP

Share this sheet, page or QR with the customer. The customer contacts Pars directly and provides their own details and consent.
